

1968 EUCLIDIAN

A faint, sepia-toned background image of a school building with a gabled roof and several windows, partially obscured by the silhouettes of trees on the left side.

ALMA MATER

Hail to thee, O Euclid High School,
To thy name all praise we sing.
Happy days of youthful pleasure,
Learning, living life so dear.
Our hearts fill with gratitude
For all that is to be. . .
Alma Mater, Euclid High School,
All our praise we bring to thee.
Where the blue of Erie's waters
Casts the sun's bright golden rays,
There all Euclid's sons and daughters
Sing the joys of student days.
If after days be dark and drear
And storms of life draw nigh,
The memories of our friendship here
Will lift our hearts to Euclid High.

Calm.

Silent contemplation.

An indefinable stillness.

The push of the crowd submits to the pull of the individual.

Barren doorways and stands suggest suspension of movement and a temporary halt in the progression of time and experience.

Solitary mind-movement of the individual,
a private thought, a sleepy wish,
a seeking and finally a path discovered by footsteps slow in coming.

Individuals expand to couples.

Reflection and decision in motionless moments.

Anxiety presents a need to get away, alone.

Or, together alone.

Two common thought patterns trigger a sharing which welds a partnership in responsibility.
People grow, decisive or passive, ambitious or content.

The stark contrast of motion and calm.

Momentary stillness, caught in the silence of an empty hallway, conceals inner harassment.
 The student climbs endless stairways each day
 hoping to find where he is going.
 Books and texts, tests and grades
 all guide him, but often confuse and depress.
 The force of the group runs strong, comforting and irresistible.
 Yet at times
 solitude prevails.
 An aloneness filled by computerized movement of the mind.
 Unconscious actions soothed
 by the silent movement
 in a lonely room or hall.
 The motionless beginning or end of a day packed with motion.

Hallways
offer solitude,
comfort and security.
Metallic rows of lockers absorb frivolity and reflection.
Entering the complex of the school
a certain aura pervades.
Always there is someone to look to,
someone to be with,
someone to be.
A million footsteps,
a thousand laughs,
a hundred silences.
All are held locked inside, never to be released by the silent witnesses.

A private laugh,
 a joking look,
 the actions of a student body diverse in thought and movement.
 Clowning individuals contrast serious couples in a chaos of motion and mood.

Recreation —
Relaxation — Reaction.

Sitting offers respite from perpetual motion.

It allows time for thoughts to be gathered.

Time to be alone
among many or to be a warm group with few.

Many expressions saying many words
with nothing spoken.

10

Teachers frequent halls and classrooms equipped for encounter and advice.
Activities and academics form
a network of energies, bridged by individual cables of need.

What can be said about
the ever moving crowds,
the sudden solitude,
the intent concentration combined in an intangible undercurrent permeating the walls?

Euclid spirit runs through crowds,
 individuals and basketball courts.
 A pulsating mass of reaction to the infinite perpetuation of E-motion.

SENIORS

The senior enters, pushes further and further, then finally leaves. He travels an uneven line, and now lurches to a precarious stop on a pinnacle, but with the rising momentum of change fast approaching. In his mind, the past walks slowly, as the future paces before him. His footsteps never turn backward, nor can he stand still; the thrust of ambition propels him expectantly into the unknown. With his final exit at graduation, the senior will sense and savor his last indefinable touch of E-motion.

ACADEMICS

Motivation detonates intrigue; the learning process requires first a will to learn and then mental output. Synchronized scheduling dictates

the respective path of each student every day. But knowledge does not dawn in an ordered pattern; bursts of inspiration and energy, fused with realization and discovery, build solid thought structures and flexible thought movements.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

"Excellent Education in "Euclid" is no accident. Through the cooperation and planning of school personnel, Euclid has become one of the top systems in Ohio. Monthly meetings of the Board welcome citizens and students interested in taking an active part in policy-making decisions.

Tradition is an important part of our heritage. One aspect of our American heritage, leading to a full life, is the public school system. We at Euclid Senior High School are indeed fortunate as we inventory our opportunities: a curriculum suited for every individual, activities conducted for the good of all, a dedicated and competent staff, cooperative parents, a Board of Education in tune with the value of education, a community that invests in education and graduates of our Euclid School System who are willing to assume their responsible place as positive citizens in our community, state and country. Congratulations on a fine year and my good wishes for a profitable future.

ADMINISTRATION

"And what can I do for you, little boy?" questions the giant with a glare. To most, this represents the misconstrued concept of the administrators. Often perplexing and confusing to the student, the assistant principals are called upon to pass judgment and determine policy for governing of the masses. Many innovations per annum maintain a continually dynamic atmosphere that permeates the entire school. Students, confident of being guided sagely, become only subtly aware of certain alterations.

DEANS AND COUNSELORS

DIVISION S-Z

Reigning supreme over the effective functionings of a high school stands an omnipresent being known as a counselor. Directives received from his hierarchy tend to evoke various student reactions. However regarded, the administrative corridor seems removed from the masses, and it becomes difficult to personally identify with its inhabitants, who are sometimes only represented through an IBM card. Nonetheless, a computer cannot run by itself, schedules cannot be formed from fantasies and reprimands do not come from the nethers; the deans and counselors stand as the guiding force behind the intricate systems of Euclid.

ENGLISH

Misplaced modifiers, voluminous novels and Shakespeare provide challenge and mystery for every student of English. Grammar and literature rank as the major components of this subject. Augmenting these "traditionals," are journalism and speech, both requiring special talents and developing useful skills; ability in these areas grows more evident only with practice. Grammar rules faithfully learned, modifiers correctly placed and quotations patiently memorized, a solution to the mystery is slowly formed.

SCIENCE

New discoveries keep scientific thought fluid, leaving room for speculation and experimentation by scientific method. Science establishes a base of learning limited only by the individual student. Thus, learning expands itself past the interests of the particular subject and develops procedures of study applicable to other fields of education as well. Proven theories, rediscovered by the student, add a satisfaction to learning by doing. Science develops in a student the desire to know the why of a problem and provides the food that fills his curious mind.

SOCIAL STUDIES

To the uninterested student, history remains a tangled mass of unimaginable events and people. Newspaper and magazine assignments provoke awareness of present events, while films, maps and textbooks present a realistic picture of the past. A wide variety of courses and extra-curricular clubs involve social studies and offer the opportunity of specialization in preferred areas of study. Though to some, characters and happenings of the past will always remain unknown and inconceivable, a greater conception of the here and now will evolve from the mandatory two year American Studies course.

MATHEMATICS

Contrast describes the world of mathematics. It explores both abstract and fixed ideas and combines the two to provide a basis for all mathematics. Beginning in algebra, a student learns fundamental identities and theorems. Armed with this knowledge, he advances into the realm of geometry. After conquering the methods of proof, a more advanced student may go on to mathematical analysis, computer math or calculus. These courses, designed to challenge the student, require comprehension and application of all earlier work. In meeting this challenge, the individual achieves understanding.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

When the French, Spanish or German student comes to class, he is expected to have prepared himself for discussion, brow-beating, questioning and rigorous drill. Language classes demand attention and participation. Literature, songs and films extend language to a study of culture. The serious student often understands more than he expects; speaking almost fluently, he writes with improved sentence structure. Language pupils and teachers share something of their world with the ethnic student body through foreign exchange students, foreign films and the atmosphere created within the four sacred walls of the language lab.

"If only I could read German."

"And tomorrow we'll find out what this means."

BUSINESS

Variety and specialization, in the form of office machines, shorthand, bookkeeping and typing, are the words which best describe Euclid's Business Department. While attempting to master the hieroglyphics of shorthand or the mystery of blank typewriter keys, the student strives to improve in speed and efficiency. To the veteran student of the Business Department, already adept at various office procedures, the opportunity to exercise practical skills through Cooperative or Distributive Education programs is available.

ART

An artist, expressing hidden desires or frequently experienced emotions, creates a world of which he is master. The virtuoso in every person, at one time or another, rebels against uniformity and seeks its own outlet. To function as an advisor and director of this potential, rather than one who dominates the scene, remains the goal of the instructor. The students who have chosen to experiment in various media soon discover the challenge of originality. However, in the field of art, as in all others, the evolution of the artist produces only the successful results to a curious public.

MUSIC

Vaguely resembling a song, the preliminary sight-reading precedes weeks of practice which terminate in a successful performance. The Music Department trains students to smoothly function not only as individuals, but also as an effective group. Besides performing in concert, the music major may study the theory and history of music, or the mystery of chords, aiming at increased understanding and appreciation.

HOME ARTS

Efficiency in home management decides the difference between the well-prepared and the unprepared homemaker. Home Arts classes at Euclid range from cooking and clothing, which offer active experience, to the mysteries of successful budgeting and the discussion of important internal problems involved in family living. The Home Arts Department explores the diverse facets of homemaking.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Euclid provides complete and specialized industrial arts courses for both boys and girls who enjoy manual activity. Theory, math and science lay the groundwork for most of the class projects. Safety and accuracy are both necessary for the operation of an oscilloscope, lathe or printing press. Some girls are attracted to one of the several drafting courses. New this year is the power mechanics course, which deals with everything from windmill to atomic power. The industrial education program leaves the student competently prepared to advance to a technical career of importance.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Forty minutes of release from academic tension constitutes the appeal of gym class to many; only variety makes it bearable to those less zealous athletes. Closely related movies and primary discussions form the body of the health course. Rescue Annie performs as both a source of entertainment and as a valuable teaching device in first aid classes. Driver training offers the finest facilities for learning.

Adjusted Curriculum offers a variety of training skills.

DRIVING

Driver training has changed from an elective to mandatory course for those desiring a driver's license in Ohio. Discussion of safety procedures, motor vehicle laws, car maintenance and most important practice sessions on the road, give the student knowledge of the cost and responsibility connected with operating a car. Completing the course marks only the beginning, for the student reaches his ultimate goal only upon obtaining his license.

ADJUSTED CURRICULUM

Adjusted Curriculum provides an individual program for each student. It allows scholastic achievement adjusted to his particular needs. Learning basics and fundamentals, the Adjusted Curriculum student receives an education that stimulates his imagination and enables him to successfully meet problems and adapt to the complex social system surrounding him.

NON-TEACHING STAFF

Organization and cooperation arise from necessity in a school the size of Euclid. Running the school requires help from a variety of sources. An absence of dirt and paper in the halls and classrooms results from continuous work of the maintenance staff. Order constitutes the goal of the librarians and secretaries, while nurses and cafeteria staff work to keep their respective areas efficient and hygienic. Students often disregard the importance of the non-teaching staff, yet they remain a vital part of Euclid.

SPORTS

Kinetic energy, pulled muscles and cast legs signify athletic prowess to the motionless onlooker. The athlete standing, walking or running personifies Euclid spirit. Beneath dangling nets or sitting in classroom desks,

they practice both physical and scholastic adeptness. Sportsmen achieve a coordinated synthesis of mind and body movement, and dynamic reaction.

FOOTBALL

What price glory? To clamoring crowds, it is forty-eight minutes of successes and failures with the net result either appreciated or rejected; it is absolute value, where almost doesn't count. To a player on the field it is measured in yards gained, penalties suffered and battles fought. In the stands little consideration may ever be given to the taste of mud and blood mixed with the salt of sweat. Victories become irrelevant in the presence of a completed pass or a stilled top scorer of the opposition. Euclid's triumph, based not on statistics, but perseverance and consistent effort, rested on a high and not easily attained plane.

HOMECOMING

Cold weather at the bonfire turned to rain and hail on the night of the football game. Disappointment from defeat at the hands of Shaw, made drenched fans forget soggy floats and focus on the Homecoming dance. Trying to Remember was not hard amid a 'Gay Nineties' atmosphere of flower arches, small hanging canopies and finally climaxing in the ballroom with dancing couples rotating around a giant balloon. Attempting to recall the past brought lasting memories of the 1967 Homecoming.

CROSS COUNTRY

At the close of school, every hall throughout the building becomes a hazard to the unwary student. Members of Euclid's cross country team vigorously practice for the weekly two mile outdoor run. Despite numerous injuries and illnesses among some members, the team managed to compile a fair record.

SOCCER

Kicking its way through more prominent fall sports, the soccer team battled to attain a prominent position. Although a newly introduced sport at Euclid, last year's skills were improved and new ones acquired. High quality and fast-moving entertainment, soccer, with its successful season, received the recognition and produced the victories that may, in the near future, elevate the team to its deserved varsity status.

BASKETBALL

"We're number one!" echoed through the gym on game nights as the Panthers bounced through opponents to bring home the LEL, Sectional, District and Regional titles. With team and spirit incorporated into one, the J.V.'s took the LEL, records were broken and Euclid became "red hot." "State in '68" was a reality, but it was defeat which revealed the true winning stuff Euclid was made of — excited, screaming, hysterical fans waited to welcome back their fantastic team, undeniably proving that they couldn't beat us.

WRESTLING

To reach a certain weight, the wrestler spends his week either in Spartan denial of food, or in an envied gorging, supplemented by numerous bananas. Gruelling practices mold men of mobility, agility and hostility. With the right combination of all three, the junior varsity team tied for first place in the LEL, while the mighty varsity boasted a state champion.

ACTIVITIES

Extra activities give rise to creative movement, or appear as mass school functions. Dramatic productions present expressive motion merged with communicative emotion, while special E-room programs show the relaxed or frantic locomotion of dancing a vanishing weekend into oblivion.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Constantly attempting to increase a student's interest in his own affairs, Student Council demanded regular attendance and greater participation on behalf of the individual representative, to hopefully create a strong liaison between the homeroom and council activities. With imagination in planning projects and the efficiency needed to accomplish them, the council successfully sponsored an increasing number of proposals and original activities. Leadership, determination and organization guided the Student Council closer to its goal of true student government.

KEY CLUB

"First in the World," the title won for the many services performed by the Euclid Key Club last year, gave it a reputation hard to uphold. To a club dedicated to service in the community, as well as the school, it became the banner that motivated the club toward greater projects. By helping others Key Club helps itself. Aiding community, school and individual, Key Club symbolized leadership in both the high school and City of Euclid.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

Indifference becomes a little-used word for the AFS member. Concern represents his philosophy. His involvement may be the small task of selling movie tickets or the large one of housing an exchange student for a year. Physically limited to the confines of a classroom one night every two weeks, programs transport students through the scenery of Europe, the Middle-East Crisis and life in other lands. This year Janet Crone has been sent to South Africa, further extending the club's tenacious reaches. Broad in scope and high in ideals, the American Field Service renders living proof to the hypothesized new awareness of youth.

Officers receive new members during induction ceremonies.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Administrators, educators, college students and educational specialists may be recruited to speak before Euclid's Future Teachers of America. Between meetings, members gain other instructive experiences by hall guarding, performing as guides at Open House or even substituting. Exposure to various aspects of the teaching situation enables the FTA member to make a valid final decision on his future; but for the present, along with experience, points are gained toward an FTA pin.

GIRLS' LEADERS CLUB

Patience, good judgment and enthusiasm make up the creed of the Girls' Leaders Club. From coping with the problem of gum chewers and jewelry wearers to refereeing a game, the gym leader must strive to exemplify a responsible and competent aide to both student and teacher.

SPIRITS

Loyalty and enthusiasm keynote the Spirits Club. Weekly meetings result in a barrage of signs, and the cafeteria becomes an art gallery of sorts, while undaunted members of the club strive to generate energy and unite spirit throughout the school. Crowded sports events and roaring pep assemblies signify both reward and success.

WAI NAPOLO

"Wai Napolo?" queries the landlocked observer. "Wai Not?" counters the avid aquatic enthusiast. Determination to teach, to learn and to perform according to high standards is the goal of the club; the methods of attaining this goal range from the unorthodox sink-or-swim technique to set patterns that emerge from clipboards, bulletin boards and diving boards. Although the secret of its name remains well-kept, Wai Napolo announces, usually quite loudly, the glory of its honored membership.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

Upon receipt of his varsity letter, the athlete automatically becomes eligible for membership in Lettermen's Club. Recognition of performance gives purpose to both the club and efforts of the individuals involved.

AD CLUB

No special requirements insure Ad Club membership, but members must be responsible, efficient organizers and salesmen. The lengthy waiting list for membership shows the students' awareness of the advantages of the club. Reward for hard work consists of free entrance to home games and a smorgasbord dinner at the end of the year.

F.B.L.A.

For students planning a career in business, Future Business Leaders of America provides the background for future success. Activities center around aspects of business apart from experience available in class. Social activities offer diversion and unity to the club, but practical experience remains its chief objective.

C.O.E.

Although an organized program for over twenty-five years, Cooperative Office Education came to Euclid only this year. Open to seniors who have taken business courses, it gives the student office experience by helping him obtain jobs with local companies. Limited to twenty-five students screened by grades, vocation and school record, COE attempts to choose those students best qualified to adjust to a number of available jobs. During the year, their work is periodically evaluated and graded as a part of their business course.

D.E.C.A.

Part of a national organization, the Distributive Education Club of America operates to attract students to careers in sales and distribution. Developing future leaders, DECA trains students and builds a workable relationship between employer and employee. Members leave equipped with knowledge concerning all phases of management and marketing.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

Created as a service, Future Nurses Club fills that requirement in many ways. Speakers and frequent activities in connection with Euclid Glenville Hospital acquaint members with the various areas of the nursing profession. Service to the community results, as FNC members act as hospital aides, benefiting both themselves and others.

SKI CLUB

"Pray for Snow" buttons exhibited in the middle of summer indicate the true ski enthusiasts. Adventurous sorts who are willing to risk limbs represent the second faction. These, however, become indiscernible as snow falls and interest grows.

CHESS CLUB

Entering a world of rooks, pawns, kings and bishops, the chess player plans his attack. He hopes to somewhere find the elusive checkmate before his unsuspecting opposition. Enthusiasts engage in a game that challenges the brain rather than the brawn; they enjoy sport that offers competition on a more aesthetic level. The chess man practices his game in all seasons.

Science Seminar attempts to fill the void of uncovered topics by exposing interested students to the ideas of various scientists of neighboring colleges and industries. Their lectures introduce practical applications of modern science.

P.A. CLUB

Due to the recent construction which silenced the public address system, and the elimination of morning announcements, PA Club duties have dwindled. Installing microphones and other equipment at assemblies and special programs speaks only partially for the value of this service organization.

Well-trained and conscientious, he gains valuable practical experience.

RADIO CLUB

Using call letters WA8ZGE, the newly formed Radio Club promises its members communication with the rest of the United States and beyond. Pooling resources and capabilities, the "hams" construct working radio equipment from idle transmitters and tangled wire. Radio Club helps new members pass an exam, which licenses them to contact stations around the world.

FOLK CLUB

At Folk Club meetings, members may sit on desks, sprawl on the floor or perch on stools with guitars that have been carried to school and fitted precariously into lockers. Diverse in preferred postures, the group occasionally divides into folk and rock factions, but the two gladly join to arrange for a guest singer or to exchange songs. The informality and lack of any musical requirement have aided the Folk Club's continued growth.

WORLD AFFAIRS

World Affairs Club projects the microcosm of the student into international affairs. Controversial discussions and guided analyses stimulate a clearer understanding of foreign countries and lead the student to valid personal conclusions.

EUCUYO

"Sing, Heavenly Muse . . . I thence invoke thy aid to my adventurous song." Thus laments the poet as he aspires to create a work of literary achievement. It also echoes the cry of the Eucuyo editor as he pleads with his staff to encourage among the student literary cult a greater and larger variety of material to create a kaleidoscope of words, music and art.

Ignorance of others' problems often causes a misunderstanding of their actions when attempting to solve basic needs. A man's background, race and nationality label and set him apart from the rest of society. Human Relations attempts to break down the walls of prejudice by showing the psychological conditions of others. It illustrates, through films, the reasons for their actions and that all people have the same motivations. Armed with knowledge, students learn comprehension, tolerance and understanding.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

Its variety of categories allows individual members of the National Forensic League to specialize. Dramatic Declamation, Extemporaneous Speaking and Debate all necessitate diligent research and practice. Saturday morning turns from a time of rest to one of competition, leading hopeful members to personal and team victories.

VOICE OF ART

Voice of Art offers opportunity for freedom of artistic expression. This neophyte club produces incentive through an annual art show, and rewards the completed masterpiece, generated from an original idea.

Voice of Art Bottom Row (L to R): Pat Volota, Mary Melgun, Sue Raggets, Pam Volota. Row 2: Brenda Payer, Nancy Tianello, Adrienne Wells, Sharon Wolf, Nancy Yuranch. STAGE CREW

Stage Crew counts among its main skills the technical handling of sets and the ability to produce special effects. Although rarely seen, its members would be sorely missed at assemblies, concerts and plays. The long evening work sessions evidence success on the night of a production.

Stage Crew Standing: Doug Duncan. Sitting (L to R): Jim Crosson, George Karlan, Melinda Baldini, Suzanne Jokela, Linda Reed.

Mr. Ganim at times finds his crew hard to please.

SPECTRUM

Rather than dedication to a service, Spectrum seeks only appreciation of the arts. Tickets to movies, plays and performances separate to bring into view the total spectrum of the modern art forms the club investigates.

"And after the dance . . ."

MAJORETTES

What are majorettes made of? The person in the stands views them as effortlessly putting on a good performance, while to a band member, they may be the girls who come in slacks and rollers to practice each morning. But more than all this, the work of a majorette represents long hours of learning various skills and mastering them to perfection. What are majorettes made of? Not only batons and pompons, but kicks, twirls and a lot of hard work.

BAND

Weekly perfection of six marching formations and a number of musical selections demand hours of practice from Euclid's band members. Competition between the ranks eases the drudgery of learning different half-time shows. Concert season witnesses formation of Concert Band, the experienced musicians, and Cadet Band, those players needing additional instruction. The ultimate test, performance, challenges the ability of every student pursuing that goal.

Band Sergeants (L to R): Vic Markovich, Steve Soloky, Jim Knight.

"Can't we BACH up?"

ORCHESTRA

Playing in Euclid's orchestra culminates years of practice and determination to excel at a specialized instrument. Mistakes are not masked by the blare of similar supporting instruments; notes must harmonize perfectly. Success finally recognizes efforts with the attainment of a symphony sound.

CHORAL MASTERS

With daily practice and constant reminders to breathe from the diaphragm, the ninety-six voices of the Choral Masters swell into one. Each member plays his integral part in capturing the mastered sound. A tune harmonizes more than simple notes; feeling and enthusiasm share an equal role. Songs fuse emotions which ignite Masters' dynamic sound.

Denny Mayock lays an egg at the annual Christmas concert.

PLAYS

A faculty cast, a bathtub and a toilet bowl on stage constituted only a small part of the fall play, Never Too Late. Adding play rehearsals to an already busy schedule, teachers worked to perfect and present it. Students composed much of the audience, and early skepticism soon vanished as they responded to a comedy not likely to be surpassed in content or presentation. Death Takes a Holiday, the winter play, represented a contrast to the fall comedy. It combined subtle humor and serious drama with an excellent performance, to reveal "Death" in search of the secret of man's fear of him. Spellbound audiences watched him fulfill his quest and find a love that stretched beyond the schism in life called "Death."

"Is this grandma's house?"

"It's enough to give me gray hair!"

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Four words — character, leadership, scholarship and service — characterize the National Honor Society member. Consistently high grades do not necessarily insure membership; individual character and service to the school merit consideration. Along with functioning as an organization, NHS recognizes the exceptional individual.

SURVEY EDITORIAL

With "if it's been SURVEY-ed, it's true" as a motto, a dictionary as a mentor and a typing eraser as a panacea, a select group of aspiring journalists produces a publication semi-monthly. Although deadlines loom omnipresent and gutters constantly threaten to overflow, a general camaraderie exists among the members of the staff that manifests itself in frequent parties, rivalry with other publications and the carrying out of time-honored literary traditions that include seeing if swivel chairs really do go all the way around. Through all this comes the recording of events of interest to a variety of students, editorial comment on vital issues and national recognition for superior journalistic achievement.

SURVEY BUSINESS STAFF

Circulation, selling and distribution require organized effort, while the Survey Business Staff also corresponds and exchanges newspapers with numerous schools. The All-School Party, planned and coordinated by the staff, earns profits which contribute to the maintenance of a consistently high quality school newspaper.

E-ROOM

Vast expanses, lending themselves to entertainment, comfort and scholarly pursuits, confront the student entering the E-Room. Here a multitude of activities concerning anything from Shakespeare to sodas can be summoned. The E-Room increases one's pride beyond its uniqueness in the sense of belonging generated. With "Mom" as its monarch, the E-Room reings as the nucleus of E-motion.

INTERNATIONAL QUILL AND SCROLL

International Quill and Scroll honors young journalists of the Euclidian, Eucluyo and Survey staffs. Although members of these publications take their induction for granted, they appreciate the recognition for the both tedious and productive hours spent. The pin and the IQS newspaper represent a journalistic bond transcending good-natured rivalry.

Summer sales, while the weather matches sunny dispositions, initiate the year; progression to autumn and winter brings cries of "Euclidiaction!" ringing throughout the corridors. Characterized by its own personality, the Business Staff supplies a relaxed atmosphere allowing the Editorial Staff to function without the financial concerns of producing THE BOOK.

The Graduation Gift That Nobody Ever Gets...

It's tops on the most-wanted list of every graduate, but no one ever gets it . . . not the rich . . . not the smart . . . not the swinging . . . not the cool.

That's because it can't be bought anywhere in your town or anywhere in the world for that matter. It has to come from inside you. It has to be earned the hard way, without help from your parents, your teachers, or your friends.

It's the ability to know what to do after the prom is over and the cap and gown have gone back to the rental service. It's the ability to make a decision about the army, or college, or a company that's going to help you amount to something.

Nobody ever said that knowing what to do is the simplest thing in the world. Nobody ever will. But they will tell you that the best choice is seldom the easiest one. They'll tell you that the right decision is often the one that takes careful planning, thinking and plain old guts when you get down to making it.

We hope that at this time you give your plans for the future at least the same amount of time you give to thoughts of the past. And if it's a career you decide upon, one that will give you a chance to prove your worth to yourself and a company, we hope you consider Reliance.

You see, we have confidence in you and your town. That's why we're here. Think it over, and let us know if we can help you pick out that decisive gift . . . from yourself.

As the sun slowly rises in the morning sky, our last deadline has been met — the 1968 Euclidian is a reality. This follows months of planning and careful attention, not to mention a considerable number of tense moments.

A great deal of thanks goes to our business staff for its successful advertising campaigns, which have given us financial backing, to Mr. Jim Parkinson, our consultant at Consolidated Graphic Arts, to Mr. Morrie Levine at Raimor Studios, despite the fact that he scares our photo staff to death, and, of course to our sponsors, Mrs. Spott and Mr. Henderson, for missing rides while staying late, and for restoring our misplaced modifiers.

For the staff, the year has meant devising our own office rules, unbolting the Dutch door, stacking Euclidians to the ceiling, our ever-popular picture-of-the-week, the Christmas gift exchange and burying the Christmas tree stand, frantic balcony captioning sessions, various psychological tests with inkspots, parties, and the good old-fashioned hard work which alone can produce a yearbook. The long hours we've all put into this book have often caused us to miss important school events.

We are pleased with the results. The 1968 Euclidian is unique to the students and faculty of Euclid High. If it gives you the same pleasure I take in presenting it to you, then we shall have accomplished our purpose.
